Social Enterprise Revolution

The UK's first hands-on social enterprise programme embedded into the curriculum of Schools, Colleges and Universities.

Developing life skills of students connected to the curriculum, in order to run real social enterprises that benefit the community and create exciting pathways into work.

"We want to connect people with the power to make a difference in their community. When this connection is made, it's very powerful - especially in young people. Which is why InspirEngage International's work is so important." Nick Hurd, Minister for Civil Society (2013)

The Overview

1 Register to become a Pioneer! (Email us: info@inspirEngage.com for information). We tailor-design a Social Enterprise programme to suit your curriculum

2 We deliver Teacher Training to curriculum leads and teachers for educators to become Social Enterprise Champions

3 We kick off the Social Enterprise Revolution Bootcamps and Tutorials for students. This includes local mentors, experts and our partners

4 Students run exciting Social Enterprise Projects that benefit the community, connected to the curriculum

5 Social Enterprise Revolution graduation- showcasing social impact and skills. The Revolution will be televised!

The Social Enterprise Revolution Bootcamps are delivered by our team of InspirEngage expert trainers including CEO Melody Hossaini. The Bootcamps cover the signature modules using the unique InspirEngage techniques. You can also choose from a number of components to emphasise the outcome you desire whether it be employability, life skills or enterprise. The minimum level in order to complete the programme is 8 sessions of 3 hours per group. The Social Enterprise Revolution also comes in a compact electronic tutorial for teachers to use in classrooms to impact all students- this includes interactive videos and resources. InspirEngage has partnered with vibrant organisations such as My Bnk to enrich the programme- giving your students outstanding results.

We don't 'teach' social enterprises - we support students to learn skills to actually launch their own social enterprise connected to the curriculum.

Outcomes:

- Innovative and modern pathways into work and enterprise for students
- Added value through life skills and confidence development
- Benefit your local community- putting you firmly on the community map!
- Help ensure improved Ofsted grades (We've seen a very good fit for the 16-19 Study Programme).

Case Study - Solihull College Student sets up own CIC!

Katie Buckingham has a passion for mental health. She completed our Social Enterprise Masterclass which confirmed to her that social enterprise was her chosen route. Katie has since launched her own social enterprise (CIC) called Altruist Enterprises, which provides quality mental health training and consultancy.

News: Michael Gove visits Social Enterprise Revolution at Harrow College and backs programme

In October, the Education Minister visited one of our pioneer colleges and said; "I am very impressed with all the students here [...] I think the social enterprise aspect is very interesting. It is a great chance for pupils to give back to the community and it will prepare for the working world."

Some of our Pioneers

"At Solihull College we are committed to ensuring our students are work ready by the time they leave us and I am confident this new partnership with InspireEngage International will achieve that and a lot more. The Social Enterprise Revolution at Solihull College has begun."

Brenda Sheils, Chief Executive and Principal at Solihull College

"Governors and staff of the College are committed to engaging in activities that directly benefit the local community and Social Enterprise Revolution makes a significant contribution to fulfilling that objective."

Tony Medhurst, Principal at Harrow College

"It's great to be working with Melody and InspireEngage as I see this this partnership as a brilliant and unique way of embedding social enterprise opportunities within all our courses."

David Byrne, Principal of Barnet and Southgate College

"If social enterprises are to create opportunity, work and a new way of doing business, then we need the pioneers like InspireEngage International to create the next generations of social entrepreneurs that want to transform the world we live in."
